

ABSTRACT

In one embodiment, the present invention is directed to a system and method for power-feeding a line coupled to an exchange without disturbing the operation of the 5 exchange. The system may include a power-feeding unit coupled to the line and an adapter coupled to the line, the adapter also coupled to or embedded in a current-consuming device coupled to the line.